North Carolina Office of Indigent Defense Services FY05 Public Defender & Private Assigned Counsel Cost Analysis

Key Findings

In FY05, PD offices saved IDS $2.87 million compared to what it would have cost if PACs had handled their cases. This is an increase in savings of $210,502 (or 7.9%) from FY04 and $646,142 (or 29%) from FY03. The main reasons for the increase are: 1) a full-year of operation from the Forsyth office with full attorney caseloads, 2) improved cost savings from a number of PD offices, including Buncombe, Cumberland, and Mecklenburg, and 3) reduced losses from Carteret, Chatham/Orange, and Pitt.

1. PD offices handled 29.1% of PAC and PD cases combined, but accounted for 21.4% of total PAC and PD expenditures.
2. Eight of the twelve PD offices were found to be cost-effective: Buncombe, Cumberland, Durham, Gaston, Guilford, Forsyth, Mecklenburg, and Robeson.
3. Some notable PD office improvements in FY05 include:

- The Carteret PD office, although still marginally not cost-effective, has steadily become more cost-effective over the last three years. In FY03, Carteret cost $70,682 more than it would have cost if PACs had handled their cases. In FY04, they narrowed that gap to $47,404. In FY05, that gap has been further narrowed to $37,027. Their productivity also increased for the third straight year—from 488 misdemeanor units per attorney in FY03 to 573 in FY04 to 609 in FY05—a 35.6% improvement.

Carteret's difficulty in being cost-effective is due the office's small size; the PD office only has 2 attorneys and 1 support staff. Lastly, the Carteret PD office is also a key participant in Carteret's drug court, although this work does not result in traditional dispositions.

- The Cumberland PD office improved their cost-effectiveness significantly in FY05. Last year, the office saved $372,947, up from $264,114 in FY04. Their average number of misdemeanor units per attorney rose from 447 units per attorney in FY03 to 507 in FY04 to 563 in FY05—a 56% increase.
- The Forsyth PD Office completed their first full year of operations with full attorney caseloads. The office saved $252,004 in FY04. In FY05, the office saved $336,130, a 33% improvement over FY04 savings. Assuming there are no systemic changes within the Forsyth office or court system, IDS expects this amount reflects approximately what Forsyth will continue to save IDS in future years. IDS projected the Forsyth Office would save $446,000 per year.
- The Buncombe PD office significantly improved their cost-effectiveness as well. In FY05, they saved $241,636, up 120% from FY04 savings of $109,509. The average number of misdemeanor units per attorney rose from 618 in FY04 to 669 in FY05—an 8% increase.

- The PD office in District 1 faces unique challenges. The office has to serve seven counties and, geographically, its territory is riddled with rivers and sounds, which results in extraordinarily long travel requirements. IDS does not expect this office to ever be cost-effective. IDS estimated that it will cost us approximately $323,000 more annually than what it would cost if PACs handled District 1 cases, and that the office would lose a little over $500,000 during its start-up year. District 1 losses in FY05 were just $137,064, significantly less than predicted. If the District 1 PD office continues to operate as effectively as last year, IDS can expect annual losses in non-start-up years to be significantly less than predicted (\approx $323,000 per year). FY05 District 1 PD Office expenditures were $414,585. In comparison, FY05 DA Office expenditures in District 1 were $1,324,530.
- Lastly, the Gaston, Mecklenburg, Guilford, and Robeson PD offices retained their high level of savings and average number of misdemeanor units per attorney (see Summary Information).

4. PD Offices that were not cost-effective tended to be smaller offices.

- The Pitt office, which generated $12,944 in savings in FY02, then $144,711 in losses in FY03, and then $174,061 in losses in FY04, reduced their losses to $134,680 in FY05. Their average number of misdemeanor units per attorney continues to remain significantly below other PD offices (see table on following page).

The Pitt PD office does have one attorney who is in the National Guard. For ten months in FY05, the office paid the difference between his National Guard pay and his normal PD salary, which added to their office losses. Fortunately, this situation no longer exists.

- The Orange/Chatham PD office had losses again this year, although they were successful in reducing their losses from $60,439 in FY04 to $47,425 in FY05—a 22% decrease. The Orange/Chatham PD Office had cost savings of $104,663 in FY02.
- The Hoke/Scotland PD office has been on a downward trend since FY02, but last year was the first year the office was not cost-effective. In FY05, the Hoke/Scotland office had $92,298 in losses compared to $9,530 in savings in FY04. A new public defender was appointed to the office in FY06, and she and her staff are working towards making the office cost-effective again.

Finally, the Durham PD office, while still cost-effective, saw a significant decrease in both office savings and productivity in FY05. In FY04, the office saved $281,661 compared to $96,358 in FY05, down 66%. The average number of misdemeanor units per attorney also declined from 573 in FY04 to 506 in FY05, down 12%. A new Acting Public Defender was appointed to the office in December 2005. He suspects that a large number of dispositions went unreported in FY05 and is currently investigating the situation, so Durham numbers may be revised in the future.

Trend data on the average number of misdemeanor units per attorney is provided in the table on the following page.

Study Limitations

It is important to note this study does not include any assessment of the quality of representation being provided.

This is a cost analysis study only. Currently, IDS is unable to conduct a cost-benefit study. A cost-benefit analysis on Public Defenders and Private Assigned Counsel would compare the cost, efficiency, and quality of their services.

- Cost—PD vs. PAC cost per case by case type
- Efficiency—the average hours it takes a PD vs. a PAC to dispose of similar cases
- Quality—the quality of the representation being received by clients of PDs vs. PACs

Data limitations, however, do not allow such a comprehensive analysis at this time. IDS does not have data on the quality of representation being provided or the average hours it takes a Public Defender to dispose of a case by type of case. PD offices do not currently collect any data on hours per case. The data available does allow IDS to compare the relative costs of PACs vs. PD offices and broadly assess their relative rates of productivity by converting office caseloads into misdemeanor units.

Moreover, IDS is aware that PD offices provide value-added activities, such as appointing PAC to cases or assisting clients after a case has been disposed, that are not reflected in the cost-effectiveness analysis. PAC may very well provide value-added activities as well. IDS intends to incorporate these value-added activities into our cost-effectiveness studies in the near future.

Not all costs associated with PACs could be quantified at this time. Research confirms that there are additional costs to the State, although not directly to IDS, associated with private assigned counsel that have not yet been quantified. These include, for example, court administrative costs to maintain PAC rosters, notify attorneys of cases, notify clients of attorneys, process fee applications to the AOC, review PAC fee applications, etc. IDS hopes to identify these State costs in the future.

Not all costs associated with PD offices could be quantified at this time. Research also confirms that there are additional PD costs to the State, although not directly to IDS, that have not yet been quantified. These include, for example, what it costs counties to provide office space to Public Defender offices as they are required by statute to do. IDS hopes to quantify these State costs in the future.
